Teenager Solves 14-Year Riddle Of World War II

California Youth Writes Letter to Japanese Commander

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Japanese admiral has told a U.S. schoolboy his fear of a trap led him to withdraw his fleet when the Americans invaded the Philippines in World War II.

The 2,000-word letter of Vice Adm. Kiyohide Shima to 16-year-old Bill Frazer of Pacoima, Calif., broke the admiral's long silence on a mystery which has puzzled war historians.

Frazer had asked Shima why he pulled his forces out of the crucial battle of Leyte Gulf in October 1944. The youth will use the information in a history term paper in junior high school.

Expressing gratitude for the admiral's response, young Frazer added: "I hope I get an A on the paper."

While U.S. forces were fighting for a foothold on Leyte Island, Shima withdrew the ships of his 2nd Division from a running sea battle in Surigao Strait.

The admiral wrote Frazer that the Japanese 1st Division of Vice Adm. Nishimura was destroyed by the Americans. Shima's own flagship, the heavy cruiser Nachi, was crippled by a collision with another Japanese cruiser and was limited to a top speed of 20 knots.

All factors made him decide the Americans were waiting for him in force.

"It was quite clear that we should only fall into a ready trap," Shima said. "I considered all such things—events, circumstances, possibilities. Then I came to my decision that it would be better to retreat from the strait and wait a chance to know how everything went."

The Los Angeles Examiner, which published the copyrighted letter, said it is "certain to become one of the great historical documents of the war in the Pacific."

In a preface to his answer, the admiral wrote:

"I can even now assure you that my decisions and judgments of the day in Surigao Strait were adequate and proper. . . I have never made any protest or any sort of thing against misunderstandings, for I believe that the truth would prove by itself in the long run of history."

"But this time," he continued, "I am deeply impressed by your eagerness and enthusiasm to find out the truth of the war in spite of your age."

Negotiation Session Is Set by Harvester

CHICAGO (AP)—A union-management session with federal mediators was arranged today in continuing efforts to end the seven-week strike of 38,000 International Harvester Co. workers.

Representatives of Harvester and the United Auto Workers Union met Sunday with federal mediators Douglas Brown and William Murray for the first time since Dec. 20.

There was no report of progress.

A Harvester spokesman said the talks concerned points disputed by the UAW in a new contract offered by the farm implement firm. The main bargaining committees of four men each from Harvester and UAW also set up a subcommittee to study piece work rates and day work classifications.

The spokesman said seven areas of contention remain between union and management. Harvester wants to freeze night shift premiums at their present level and seeks a summer shutdown for inventory purposes.

Among union demands are: special wage increases for apprentices, higher wages for clerical and technical employees, and alleviation of alleged wage inequities. Average pay under the old contract was $2.55 hourly.

Windom Named To State Post

DiSalle Completes Cabinet Selections

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With the announcement that Loren G. Windom of Reynoldsburg will be adjutant general, Gov.-elect Michael V. DiSalle has completed his cabinet appointments.

The appointment was announced Sunday. DiSalle has called a meeting of his cabinet members today at his Secor Hotel headquarters in Toledo.

Windom, 53, has 34 years experience in the Ohio National Guard, which he joined as a private May 5, 1924. He presently holds the one-star grade of brigadier general, an appointment he received five years ago next month.

Leo M. Kreber, who became adjutant general in January, 1949, is a two-star major general. With the exception of two years when he was on leave of absence to command the 37th Division on active duty during the Korean War, Kreber has served ever since.

Transformation Period
Windom comes into office during a period of considerable transformation in the Ohio Guard, which Kreber has begun. Among other duties, Windom will supervise the state militia organization's changing to meet the demands of the atomic age, including reformation of the 37th Division into a fast-moving, nuclear weapons-firing pentomic division.

Other responsibilities Windom will assume are for the Ohio National Guard, which includes four squadrons of jet fighter-bombers; Civil Defense and the Ohio Defense Corps, a planned organization of veterans who could be mobilized in an emergency.

Since 1937, Windom has handled cases in a 30-county area as assistant U. S. attorney for the southern district of Ohio.

Said to be the most decorated general officer in the Ohio National Guard, he worked his way up to master sergeant in 1930, then was commissioned first lieutenant, jumping the grade of second lieutenant. In 10 years he was a lieutenant.

Accused of Maltreating Area Marines

Marine Instructor's Court-Martial Opens

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—A Marine training instructor, Sgt. Ralph A. J. Grant of Racine, Wis., goes on military trial today on charges of beating recruits and accepting payoff money from them.

Sgt. Grant and Sgt. Willard B. Poss of Augusta, Ga., another drill instructor at this Marine recruit training center, are charged with accepting money from 69 members of an Ohio recruit platoon. Each recruit allegedly chipped in $10 into a $690 pot for sergeants.

Franc's Drop Will Aid U.S. Businessmen

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Americans doing business in Western Europe will find some of their money transactions a bit less complicated today. But they will find the French manufacturer a keener competitor in world trade.

The general courts-martial of Poss and Heller will follow that of Sgt. Grant.

The charges grew out of statements made by six members of Ohio's Steel Valley Platoon when home on leave last September after completing basic training at Parris Island.

They told their parents of alleged mistreatment and the payoff which they said all members of the platoon made.

The Steel Valley Platoon was recruited last June in the Youngstown-Warren area.

The six trainees named in the charges, all now stationed at Camp Lejeune, N.C., are:

Pvt. Raymond E. Theisler, Herbert E. Stevens and Gerald Wardrop, all of Youngstown, Wiliam Hartman of Leavittsburg, Arthur L. Browne of Lisbon and Pfc. Charles E. Weaver of Newton Falls.

Several other Lisbon Marines had complained in letters to parents of rough treatment and forced money payments.

They were identified as John W. Coie, John R. Hull, Richard J. Kofel, Roger A. McGaffick and Robert L. Taffini.

Capt. Joe Bridges, public information officer at Parris Island, said the recruits themselves did not complain to authorities, but that it was their parents who had voiced strong protest to the maltreatment.

France Begins to Clean House

DeGaulle Announces Devaluation of Franc

PARIS (AP)—France today embarked on a new year's housecleaning of her economy.

It was bad news all along the line for most French people, but Premier Charles de Gaulle said it was the only way to get out of a dangerous situation.

In a nationwide radio and television address Sunday night, De Gaulle presented only the melancholy big picture. The sad details of the new austerity will be in the fine print of the official journal, which prints all government regulations, in the next few days.

These were the major hardship measures announced by the Premier:

Devaluation of the franc by 17.5 per cent, cutting prices of French products abroad but raising them and of imports for the home folks.

Partial Convertibility
The convertibility of the franc, allowing foreigners to go into France's small stock of gold and dollar exchange without comparable liberalization for Frenchmen wanting to buy, travel or invest abroad.

A budget of nearly 15 billion dollars, up more than two billion dollars from last year.

A variety of tax increases and cuts in subsidies the government has been paying to producers to keep prices of many things down. The government estimates this will keep the budget deficit to about $1,100,000,000, some 30 million less than it was last year. But the loss of subsidies will send prices on those items up.

More spending in Algeria, both for the military campaign against the nationalist rebellion and for the ambitious economic program De Gaulle wants to launch to better the lot of the Moslems.

Brightens Picture
The little he promised to brighten the dark picture included a raise in the lowest minimum wage levels, and increases in unemployment benefits to bring jobless pay to the minimum wage. There was also indication of improved hospitals, housing and schools.

De Gaulle said the revolt of the colonials and the army in Algeria last May, which brought him back to power, actually resulted "from the general conviction that the public powers were impotent."

12 Persons Hurt In Accidents on Area Highways

5 Mishaps Occur In 2-Hour Period on Fog-Shrouded Roads

Fog-shrouded highways were blamed for five accidents investigated by the state highway patrol in a two-hour period Sunday morning during which 12 persons were injured.

The two most serious mishaps, in which six persons were hurt, involved busses, one a church bus and the other a vehicle of the Inter-City Transit Co. of East Palestine.

The Inter-City bus, driven by John Young, 37, of East Palestine, had stopped to pick up a passenger on the Y and O Road, one mile west of Rt. 30, at 8:58 a.m. when a car driven by John Deems, 51, of Negley struck the bus from the rear.

A few minutes later an auto operated by Katherine Morris, 30, of Lisbon also struck the bus, narrowly missing the demolished Deems car.

Miss Morris is reported in fairly good condition in East Liverpool City Hospital with a broken right shoulder and broken pelvis.

Deems received lacerations of the lips; his wife, Garnet, 48, lacerations of the forehead; and Florence Johnston, 65, a passenger on the bus, bruises about the head. All were treated at East Liverpool City Hospital.

Deems was arrested for failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead.

Crashes Into Bus

A car operated by Joseph Ferris, 18, of East Liverpool crashed into the rear of church bus driven by Gene Gibson, 39, of Wells-ville at 8:45 a.m. on Rt. 7, two-tenths of a mile north of Wells-ville.

The bus had stopped for a railroad crossing when the mishap occurred, patrolmen said.

Ferris is reported in good condition in East Liverpool City Hospital with a brain concussion and abrasions of the right knee.

David Torrence, 18, of Lakewood, a passenger in Ferris' car, suffered a dislocated hip and lacerations of the face and is in fairly good condition at the hospital.

Ferris was cited for reckless operation, patrolmen said.

3 Vehicles In Mishap

Cars driven by a Lisbon area man and his daughter and a truck operated by a Lisbon man figured in a mishap on Rt. 45, just north of Lisbon, at 9:20 a.m.

Patrolmen said a small truck driven by Dean Rose, 24, of Lisbon crashed into the rear of an auto operated by George Kelch, 46, of RD 5, Lisbon.

Soon afterward, an auto driven by Darlene Kelch, 16, crashed into the truck.

Rose sustained possible fractured ribs and contusions of the chest and was brought to Salem City Hospital where he is reported in fairly good condition.

Mrs. Irene Kelch, 47, a passenger in her husband's car, sustained lacerations of the scalp and was treated by a Lisbon physician.

Rose and Miss Kelch were cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead.

Four-Car Accident

A four-car accident occurred on Alternate Rt. 14, one and a half miles east of Washingtonville at 7:45 a.m.

Cars driven by Paul Witmer, 52, of Columbiana and John Riemish, 20, of New Waterford, collided as Riemish attempted to pass an unidentified vehicle stopped at the side of the road, patrolmen said.

A few minutes later, cars driven by George Gbur, 28, of West Point and Daniel Nardo, 21, of Baden, Pa. struck Riemish's vehicle.

Riemish received a laceration of the nose and Witmer, lacerations of the lips. Both were treated at Salem City Hospital.

Riemish was arrested for passing without the assured clear distance ahead.

Two persons were injured in a four-car crash on Rt. 45, two and

23 Persons Die On Ohio's Roads

Toll Is About Same As Figure in 1957

By The Associated Press
(For the period from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday)

Traffic	23
Fire	2
Miscellaneous	3
Total	28

Only the fact that other states posted staggeringly high accidental death rates prevented Ohio from again leading the nation in holiday fatalities.

The state's over-all toll was about the same as last year, when Ohio had the highest accidental death rate in the nation.

This year, from 6 p.m. Wednesday—when The Associated Press survey began—until midnight Sunday, 23 people died in traffic, 2 as the result of fires, 3 from miscellaneous causes.

Last year, 24 died in traffic, 4 in fires and 3 from miscellaneous causes.

In addition, a 64-year-old ex-steelworker plunged to his death from a second floor stairway Saturday night at Lorain in an accident which has not been ruled on. He was Nick Jacovetti.

Nor has the death of Gennaro Santillo, 61, at his Cleveland Heights home Sunday, been ruled on. Police think he suffered a heart attack while watching television and smoking, and the couch on which he was seated caught fire. Santillo was found dead, badly burned.

Outside the state, Ronald D. Lyon, 19, originally of Martha, Ky., was killed in a two-car crash near Greentop Ky., Sunday as he was returning to Columbus to work. His pregnant wife is seriously hurt.

Ohio recorded the first fatality in the nation for the Wednesday-to-Sunday period when Mrs. Carol Elliott of Dayton died shortly after 6 p.m. Wednesday in a crash in Greene County.

Among the fatalities were:

Final Returns Not Yet In

Nation's Traffic Toll Is Short of Estimate

By The Associated Press
Traffic 581
Fires 91
Miscellaneous 91
Total 763

Traffic deaths during the long Christmas weekend, which started at a break-neck speed but slowed down near the last quarter mark, may fall below the preholiday estimate of 620.

The nation's motorists slammed on the brakes after they apparently were stunned by the reckless getaway in the count of the dead in the first three days of the holiday period.

However, belated reports of accidents which occurred up to midnight Sunday may boost the total to the second highest holiday toll on record.

Safety experts had expressed alarm at the slaughter on the highways from the start of the 102-hour holiday period at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve to late Saturday. They had feared if the pace continued, nearly seven killed per hour, the total would surpass the all-time record of 766 traffic deaths set in the four-day 1956 Christmas weekend.

ending the 20-day walkout.

The strike cost estimated at 50 million dollars.

All four morning newspapers published. Editions began hitting the streets of this news-starved city about 2 a.m., four hours after the strike's end.

They were the first since Dec. 11, when the nine major daily newspapers halted operations.

Plants of the five afternoon papers buzzed again with activity as they resumed normal schedules.

Hundreds of newsstand dealers threw open their shutters. New Yorkers normally purchase 5½ million copies daily and 8½ million Sundays.

A back-to-work call went out to the independent Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union's 4,400 members and to 15,000 nonstriking newspaper employees laid off when the plants shut down.

Terms Settled
Terms of the agreement were settled by negotiators Friday night.

The new contract included a $3.55 pay increase the first year and $1.75 the second. Benefits included Columbus Day off as a ninth paid holiday and three days of sick leave annually, to begin in 1960. Unused sick leave will be paid in wages at the new scale.

The deliverers also won a reduction from 53 to 50 pounds in the weight of bundles they handle.

The basic prestrike wage was $102.82 a week.

The new pact is estimated to be worth $7 weekly to the deliverers.

Asher Schwartz, union attorney, said the new contract would be in effect as of Dec. 7, when the old pact expired.

Barney G. Cameron, president of the Publishers Assn. of New York City, estimated the cost of the strike to the newspaper publishing business alone at 25 million dollars in revenue.

The City Commerce Department said that retail stores, lacking normal advertising channels during the heavy holiday shopping season, missed about 7 per cent of sales potential. This comes to about 10 million dollars.

Pay losses incurred by employees ran to about five million dollars.

Bradley To Be Sworn In As Patrolman

Donald D. Bradley, 29, will be sworn in as patrolman Friday by Mayor Harold Smith.

Bradley was named to fill the vacancy created by the recent promotion of Robert Kirchgessner to lieutenant.

He scored high on a Civil Service exam Dec. 11 also taken by 27 other applicants.

Bradley is expected to assume his duties early next week.

Castro's Troops Surging Toward City of Santiago

Rebels Hoping to Set Up Government In Oriente Province

HAVANA (AP)—A climax in Cuba's two-year-old civil war appeared to be drawing near today, Fidel Castro's rebels smashed at government forces in Eastern Cuba, and President Fulencio Batista's army waged a fierce offensive against insurgents in the central part of the island.

In Oriente province, at the eastern end of the island, the rebel radio said four of Castro's columns were marching toward Oriente's capital, Santiago de Cuba after hitting army forces elsewhere in the province.

The rebels said their goal was to set up an insurgent government in Oriente shortly.

In the central province of Las Villas, Batista's forces apparently had started a large-scale offensive to counter a string of rebel victories which threatened the provincial capital of Santa Clara. The government was sending in heavy artillery, tanks and bomb-fense to counter a string of rebel successes.

Bombed Santa Clara
The rebels reported government planes bombed Santa Clara and the rebel-held town of Jatibonico, in Camaguey province near the Las Villas border. Camaguey lies between Las Villas and Oriente.

Other reports from Las Villas said Batista's planes and artillery heavily bombed and shelled rebel concentrations around Santa Clara. One aim of the government offensive appeared to be to remove a rebel threat to the main highway between Las Villas and Oriente.

Despite rebel attempts to have populated places declared open cities, the government warned that it would make all-out counterattacks on towns held or threatened by the rebels.

A rebel exile organization in Miami said the planes bombed and strafed cities although the Army knew the rebels were camped outside the cities.

Rebel reports from Oriente indicated that the 10,000 Batista troops there were in desperate trouble.

The insurgents claimed they captured the city of Palma Soriano, an important point on the main highway between Bayamo and Santiago, and inflicted 600 casualties on government force, including 286 prisoners.

Democrats Will Take Over in Ohio One Week From Today

Soon after the turn of the year, the Democrats will return to power in Ohio—in the governor's office after a two-year gap and in the Legislature after a lapse of 10 years.

In a series of three articles, Art Parks of the Associated Press Columbus staff takes a look at the personalities in the Democratic "team," the promises to Ohio voters in the 1958 Democratic platform and the state's money problems as it faces the uncertain future.

By ART PARKS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Democrats, a bedraggled and badly beaten bunch only two years ago, will begin to take over the state government a week from today. Two weeks from today they will finish the job.

Since 1946, the Statehouse has been solidly Republican. But come inauguration day, Jan. 12, there will be only two GPO office holders left—and one of them is a holdover.

The event a week from today, Jan. 4, is the opening of the 103rd General Assembly. It will be the first Democratic-controlled Legislature in a decade.

The Democratic "team" which gave the Republicans such a lacing in this year's election was—with one exception—the same that took a shelling in 1956. There was a shakeup in the positions they played, but there was only one new face on the team.

Gov.-Elect Michael V. DiSalle won a rematch with GOP Gov. C. William O'Neill.

John Donahy of Alliance lost his bid two years ago for state treasurer, but this year was elected lieutenant governor.

Stephen M. Young of Cleveland ran for attorney general in 1956 and was beaten. But this year he walked off with a U.S. Senate seat, walked off with a U.S. Senate seat.

Joseph T. Ferguson of Columbus bid for the office of state auditor two years ago, but this year was elected state treasurer.

The new face this year was that of Mark McElroy of Cleveland. But even he is no stranger in the Statehouse. He has served in both houses of the Legislature. He was elected attorney general in his first try for statewide office.

Those who will be keeping the foot of the Grand Old Party in the Statehouse door will be Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and State Auditor James A. Rhodes. Brown was the only Republican on the statewide ticket to win re-election this year.

Rhodes was elected to a four-year term in 1956. His post will be up for grabs for a two-year term in 1960. Beginning in 1962, all state officials will be elected to four-year terms at the same time.

The Republicans, who, in 1954, put on the state ballot a proposal to extend state office terms to four years, are the first to be hurt by the longer terms. The four Democrats and one Republican elected to state office last month will serve four years.

Two years ago when Republicans took every elective state office, there was much talk about the "GOP team." But it was on rare occasions—if ever—that a team spirit developed. Personality conflicts, resentments and individual ambitions contributed to the failure to reach a working unity.

Whether Democrats—in something less than a complete rule-of-the-roost situation—can keep the team spirit of campaign days rolling is a good question.

So deep in the minority have the Democrats been in recent Legislatures that they seldom got their names in the papers. So it's little wonder that even the leaders of the 103rd General Assembly are virtual strangers to the average Ohioan.

Neither house has elected a hell-for-leather type leader. In fact, the kingpin of each house probably will find it difficult to muster enough self-assertiveness to lead his flock through a probably wild and woolly session.

Senate Majority Leader - Designate Frank W. King of Toledo is a quiet, serious man of 46. His most colorful characteristic is his wavy auburn hair. He is a hard-fighting, intelligent liberal. His past record indicates nothing of the flamboyant about him.

House Speaker designate James A. Lantz (pronounced Lahntz) of Lancaster is a tall, quiet, handsome young man of 37, studious and almost shy. His friends peg him as something of a conservative. He apparently has been tapped by Democratic brass—including Gov.-Elect DiSalle—as one of the future wheels of the party in Ohio.

The Senate has a built-in president, the lieutenant governor. Its majority leader is president pro tem. The other powerful spot is that of Senate clerk, an appointive post. Democrats have chosen Joseph W. Bartunek of Cleveland for that $12,000-a-year spot.

Now only 34, Bartunek has been minority leader in the Senate for the last eight years. He did not seek re-election this year.

In the House, a legislative veteran from Dayton, Jesse Yoder, will be the majority floor leader. At 56, he is by 10 years the oldest of any of the leaders in either house. And, at 33, House Majority Whip Norman Fuerst of Cleveland will be the youngest.

Another legislative veteran who did not seek re-election has been appointed House clerk. He is Arthur H. (Brady) Milleson of Freeport, Harrison County. Milleson, 46, got his nickname from his father.

Next: Democratic Promises.

Windows Chosen Unwisely Often Cause Trouble

Many families take windows pretty much for granted until they begin to cause trouble. Then it's frequently too late to do anything about it beyond ripping them all out and installing new ones all around.

For this reason, it's a good idea for families who are planning to build, buy, or remodel a house to be more aware of window wills and how to avoid them ahead of time. Here are a few examples.

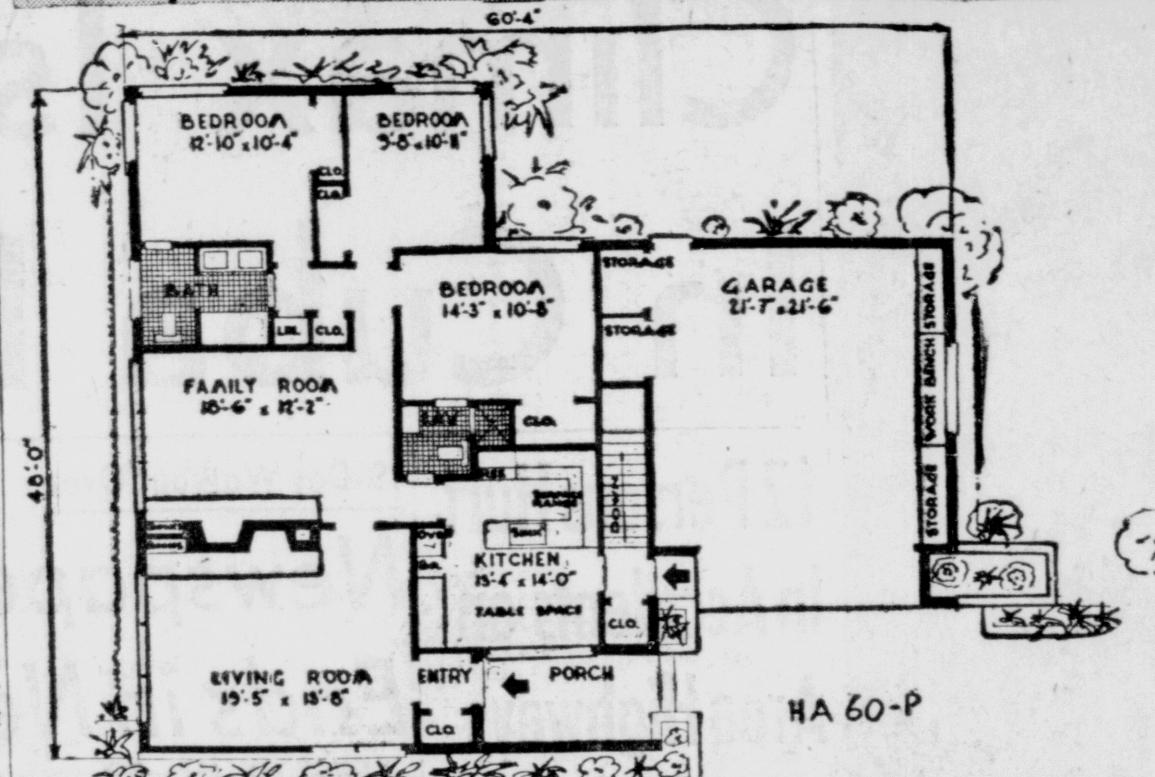

1. Condensation. Moisture can form on the frame and sash of some windows in winter. This moisture can run down onto walls, spoiling wallpaper and paint, and drip onto carpets. The surest way to avoid this is to choose wood windows, since moisture never condense on wood.

2. Heat loss through frames and sash. Some materials used for windows conduct heat rapidly. In winter, this can mean higher fuel bills and the discomfort of cold surfaces inside the house. Frames and sash made of ponderosa pine, however, stay warm to the touch and effectively block the passage of heat because wood is a natural insulating material.

3. Appearance. Many windows are made of materials that do not take paint well. As a result, the frames and sash can't become a part of the decorating scheme, inside or out. Wood windows eliminate this problem since clear ponderosa pine can be painted or stained for any decorating effect desired.

DAIRYMEN TO MEET
F. M. Campbell of Select Dairies, Inc., Salem, is one of a group of Salem area dairymen expected to attend the 42nd annual convention of the Ohio Dairy Products Association in Cincinnati, Jan. 19-21.

Mr. Campbell is a member of the governing body of the Ohio Ice Cream Manufacturers Division of the ODPA.

LONG, SWEEPING LINES mark this contemporary home as a house of distinction. A unique roof aperture that extends down to shoulder height creates an attractive entranceway. The house has six rooms, with three bedrooms and large living, family and kitchen areas. The plan, HA60-P, is by Petersen-Gaiser & Associates, 11711 E. Eight Mile Rd., Warren, Michigan. It covers 1,577 sq. ft., excluding garage.

Many New Paints Aimed At Do-It-Yourself Enthusiasts

New paints are emerging from the laboratories in a steady stream, a large percentage of them aimed specifically at the do-it-yourself home owner.

It's a wise purchaser indeed who looks over his dealer's entire stock of paints and finishes before he makes his decision. A look-see is in order even if a visit has been made to the same store a week or two earlier. There's always a chance that the researchers will have come up with something that may fit a particular paint problem a little more specifically.

One of the unusual paints that seems to be making a hit in homes where there are small children is one that leaves a hard green or black slate finish. It can be written on with chalk or crayon and the writing easily erased with a regular blackboard eraser or damp rag. The color simulates the "bite" and writing qualities of slate and can be applied to wood, plaster, metal, composition board or any other surface.

GLASS CAN BE frosted with (what did you expect?) a glass-frosting paint. It allows the light to come through yet gives complete privacy. The paint is easy to apply and quick to dry and achieves an elastic, opaque finish that withstands scrubbing and extremes of temperature.

For a "baked-on" effect, there is a liquid porcelain enamel, especially suitable for use on washing machines, refrigerators, dryers and similar home appliances. It now is available in many colors so that it can be used for transforming white into a sunny shade as well as for a mere refinishing job. This enamel is said to be extra long wearing, designed to withstand the onslaughts of boiling water, grease, steam, fumes and alcohol.

ONCE THE EXCLUSIVE province of gymnasiums and other heavy-duty floors, a triple-duty varnish is available for the home. It is excellent for floors that get extra-hard wear from children's boots, galoshes, etc.

While most radiators and ranges can be finished with ordinary paint, a much better result will be obtained with a special paint that can take temperatures of several hundred degrees Fahrenheit without peeling or cracking.

No matter what the paint problem, the chances are that some manufacturer has put out a product that will make your task easier.

7. Make better use of area space at walls and ceilings if rooms are small. Is that magazine rack necessary. Give yourself more floor space, and your room will look larger.

8. RESIST the temptation to put another patterned piece in the room, if you already have one or more in upholstery fabric, slip cover or draperies.

9. If your home lacks charm in spite of all your efforts ask yourself: Is it too bare to have personality? Could it be improved by a cheerful color—yellow, red or another vibrant shade.

10. Keep the refrigerator tidy, and you'll have more room at your disposal. Consolidate the leftover peas, carrots and green beans that are going into a stew. Choose deeper storage dishes. Grind up the stale bread for crumbs and put in a jar.

QUESTION: I want to put down asphalt tile on a concrete floor. The floor has always seemed perfectly level, but in checking it the other day I discovered that it slants a little in one direction. Will this have any effect on the tile?

ANSWER: The slanting of the concrete floor will in no way impair the effectiveness of the job. If the adhesive and tiles are put down properly, they will remain in place just as long as a slanted floor as on one that is perfectly level. However, it is important that the concrete be fairly smooth. An irregularity at some point may later cause the tiles in that particular area to crack and break.

QUESTION: Is it safe to remove old paint from the outside of a wooden house with a blow torch?

ANSWER: Not for you it isn't.

QUESTION: I have a table saw which I bought about a year ago. The rip fence on it has a handle which locks in place when it is pushed downward. Lately I notice that, after the handle presumably is locked, there is a little play in it . . . not much, maybe a 32nd of an inch . . . but enough so that making a perfect rip cut is somewhat difficult. Can this be fixed?

ANSWER: When a rip fence on a table saw has some play on it, there is more to it than the failure to get an accurate cut. If it moves at all while a piece of wood is being cut, there is always the danger that the wood will get pinched between the fence and the saw blade, with possible injury to you. Do not use the fence again in that condition. Check the back end of the fence, the part farthest away from you when you are making a cut. See if there isn't a tiny knob up under the metal housing. If there is, a slight turn of this knob may be sufficient adjustment to keep the fence in place. If this does not work, you have no choice but to take the fence back to where you bought it, the table saw (1) in hope that it can be fixed or (2) to buy a new one of the same size.

American Decor Look Is Emphasized By Ceramic Tiles

Some of the nation's finest artists have hitched their drawing boards to ceramic tile. Why? To meet a demand created for tiles suitable to American decor.

Many artisans have relied on old patterns found across the seas, perhaps from Egyptian burial vaults or the tile splendor found in palaces or paved streets for use in American homes. But this new distinguished designer series produces tiles that are typically American.

Tile traveled from India, Turkey, Algiers, Morocco, Spain, Holland, Italy leaving its imprint each time—as some of the lovely Delft blue tiles of Holland illustrate with their windmills and Dutch figures. So why not put an American stamp on our tiles? The designers in this project include industrial designer Paul Laszlo Paul McCobb, who created the linear look in furniture, motion picture artist Saul Bass, textile designer Dorothy Liebes, and artist Millard Sheets, creating tiles that offer a personalized look to every area of the house. McCobb has done a series that is ideally dramatic to a stairway, or at the barbecue, and their contemporary decoration belies the fact that tiles are really, after all, more than 6,000 years old.

Laszlo enlivens the kitchen wall with a decorative design that is a series of colorful pots and pans in red, green, black and grey on a background of pegboard, all on ceramic tile.

If you decide to decorate with tiles, keep these pointers in mind. Choose tiles that are compatible to room furnishings.

Be sure colors are those you can live with no matter how you change the room decor.

The tile pattern must be quietly displayed, not splashed in an arrogant display. It must be pleasing to the eye. These tiles may be placed dramatically, not necessarily in a symmetrical pattern.

Doctors Differ on Gall Bladder Removal

Many thousands of people are faced each year with the problem of whether or not their gall bladders should be removed by surgery.

Frequently this is because of the presence of stones. When stones are involved, operation may or may not be advisable, depending on individual circumstances such as the symptoms produced, the location of the stones and the age of the patient.

However, there are also many people who have gall bladder trouble and may need surgery, but who do not have stones inside this organ. Such people have inflammation of the wall of the gall bladder, the cause of which is still not too well understood, and for which there is yet no good preventive measure.

The gall bladder is a small, pear-shaped hollow organ lying just under the liver and ribs on the right side. Its function is to store bile and to empty it gradually down a small passageway into the intestines. The bile is manufactured in the liver; when it reaches the intestines it helps in the digesting of fats.

In about two-thirds of all cases, the bile itself is sterile. That is, germs cannot be found in it. Chemical agents — apparently even the bile itself — as well as bacteria, can produce either acute or chronic gall bladder inflammation.

In acute inflammation, severe but not constant pain is usually the first sign of difficulty. This is generally on the right side of the abdomen. Often pain from the gall bladder is felt in the back under the right shoulder.

Nausea, vomiting, slight fever, and swelling of the entire abdomen may come after a short time. The area around the inflamed gall bladder is almost always tender.

The question of whether to operate at the time when the inflammation is acute or to wait until it has subsided has been debated for a long time.

SOME AUTHORITIES feel that the removal of the acutely inflamed gall bladder can be done best right away. Others, equally competent, favor delay, and operation, if necessary, only during the time when the inflammation is not severe.

In the chronic form, the symptoms may be much the same as the acute form but not as severe. Many of those with chronic inflammation complain of "gas on the stomach," a feeling of fullness after eating, and similar vague symptoms. Sometimes jaundice (yellowness of the skin) and mucous membranes is present.

The question as to whether operation is necessary or whether the condition should be treated by medicament is often difficult and cannot be answered except after careful study of the individual.

But the operation today is far less formidable, thanks to improved methods, than it was even a few years ago.

Republicans Need a Lyndon Johnson

When even the Republicans in Congress have nothing but praise for Lyndon Johnson, the Texan who leads the Democrats in the Senate, the man must be good.

That is part of the trouble Republicans are going to have when they elect a leader to replace defeated California Sen. Knowland as their leader. Sen. Johnson has set such a high standard his Republican counterpart cannot expect to measure up to it.

Sen. Knowland, though he won respect for his personal integrity, never won admiration for adroitness or tact. Unlike his predecessor, the late Sen. Taft, who could make conservatism seem plausible and attractive, Sen. Knowland's heavy-handed conservatism rarely was either plausible or attractive to anyone, except those more conservative than he was.

The leading contender for Republican leadership in the Senate is Sen. Dirksen of Illinois. He is being opposed by a self-styled "insurgent" group whose rallying cry seems to be "the forward look," like the sales slogan for a well known automobile.

This means, as directed at Sen. Dirksen, that he does not meet the group's specifications for Senate leadership. But for the country as a whole it only raises the question of where forward-looking Republicans, or any other kind, will find a Senate leader who can do for them what Sen. Johnson does for Senate Democrats; namely, keep them out of one another's hair when every fiber of their political being as a coalition is urging them to start internecine warfare.

Among Republicans, there is this same powerful urge to pit brother against brother. The problem is not peculiar to one political party. That is why it takes a Lyndon Johnson or a Bob Taft to maintain a working organization and thereby to maintain the two-party system of U.S. government.

There are no Bob Tafts in sight. And there is only one Lyndon Johnson in sight.

No matter how strong a senator may seem to be in his own state, or even as a spokesman for a section, his strength in the two-party system is measured by his ability to command the respect of other members of the Senate as a party leader. Sen. Knowland never made the grade as Sen. Taft's heir to Republican leadership in the Senate. It is doubtful if Sen. Dirksen would do any better, or that anyone proposed by his opponents would do any better, either.

A genuine party leader is about the rarest thing in government, which accounts for those perennial hardies in the House, Rep. Rayburn and Rep. Martin, and will account for the probability that Sen. Johnson will be boss of the Democrats as long as he wants the job and Texans send him to the Senate.

Expansion by Political Edict

A Kremlin announcement that Soviet production facilities will be expanded by a vast program of government spending brings the cold war against the United States down to rock-bottom economics.

Production facilities in the United States are expanded by private spending, except in wartime. Expansion by political edicts is unknown—or has been in the past.

Whether or not it continues to be unknown in the future will depend on which direction the United States moves in the next few years.

There exists in and close to Congress a determined group of Democrats clamoring for a vast program of U.S. Government spending to step up the cold war against the Soviet Union.

The forthcoming "battle of the budget" in Washington is, in effect, a showdown between public spenders and private spenders. Public spenders say taxes must be boosted to give the government more money to spend. Private spenders say taxes must be reduced to give them more money to spend so they can make more profit, thereby providing more revenue.

Public spenders believe the government should support itself in any style to which its politicians may become accustomed, but private spenders believe government spending must be held closely in check lest it drain too much wealth away from private enterprise which, in the long run, is the only source of national wealth.

THIS IS THE issue between the United States and Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. This is the issue between socialism and capitalism.

While the Russian hierarchy strives to bring a socialist state up to the economic level of its capitalist competitor, Americans who think like socialists are striving to reduce a capitalist state to the politically controlled economics of its socialist competitor.

Even Americans who do not think like socialists are trapped in the confusion of purposes, because national defense, which accounts for more than half the federal budget, has become untouchable. They feel they must give militarists whatever they say they require for security.

This gives the government of the United States virtually the same power over economic welfare that Russia's system of socialism gives the Kremlin.

But in the United States, taxpayer-voters still hold the ultimate power of decision. They are able to decide at what point they will not bear further taxes, or continue in office a government administration that has misused its spending power.

They mark the difference between socialism, which in practice is government by edict in the name of the people, and capitalism, which is government by consent of the people who produce the wealth on which government sustains itself.

IT IS THE U.S. taxpayer who is really fighting the cold war against the Soviet Union; he is the prime target of attack not only by socialists in Russia but by socialists in the United States.

If he could be roped, tied, gagged and broken in spirit, he could be made to share the people's poverty here without a whimper, as he does in Russia. The politicians could milk him like a cow.

But as long as he retains his liberty as an individual to squawk against exorbitant taxes and to throw out politicians who have been spending his money, socialism in the United States is impossible. The cold war never can be settled by making the United States indistinguishable from the Soviet Union.

Water, Fire and the Auto

The seasonal hazard of water that causes a disturbingly high death rate from drowning during the summer holidays — Memorial Day, Independence Day and Labor Day — has its wintertime duplicate in fire.

Though the statistics are not complete and cannot be thought of as completely reliable even when a total has been agreed on, upward of 50 persons were killed by fire over the Christmas weekend.

This hazard has been more conspicuous this winter than usual, because of unusually low temperatures. Fire prevention experts know that risks which might claim no lives under ordinary heating conditions always are multiplied in extremely cold weather, when furnaces and heaters are used to the limit.

Yet, safety from fire is not beyond attainment, even when it must be attained under less than ideal conditions, as is true of many dwelling places that are heated with inferior equipment. Like safety from highway hazards, the answer is in vigilance. Most fires are caused by human carelessness, much of it in the form of failure to learn what possibilities of danger exist.

There is evidence, too, that in residential fires many fatalities are caused by failure to have a predetermined plan for getting out of the building if a fire starts. Victims are claimed for lack of the simple precaution of having been told in advance what to do if an emergency arises.

Fire is by no means as dangerous as water, which claimed 27 per cent as many victims last Labor Day as lost their lives on the highway. But at a rate that is running a strong 17 per cent, heating is the third most fearful hazard, exceeded by highway travel by auto and the water sports of swimming and boating.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Deputy Premier Mikoyan visits U.S. shortly. No red mat will be rolled out. The reception will have overtones of frost but not exactly a deepfreeze.

He will probably make TV, the front pages and the loud-speakers even if he doesn't get a waltz with Ike. What's he after?

One rumor is that he represents Khrushchev in a request for a return bout with Sen. Humphrey. Another is that he bears a note from Nikita to the senator asking, "Just what was it you said? I remember only the first four hours."

His Idlewild arrival will, of course, hear the usual interviews. "What did you think of the New York skyline?" "As the whole world knows, Russia invented skylines."

"Did you have a nice trip or was the Statue of Liberty visible?" "That is a capitalistic attempt to entrap me." "What did Bulganin get for Christmas besides a refusal to restore his two front teeth?" "No comment."

POSSIBLY HE WILL go directly to Washington, but if he lingers in New York he suggest the following program:

1. Visit to the U.N. for dedication of Pavilion of the All-Weather Monkey Wrench.
2. Arrival Russian headquarters for briefing on how to appear on "Meet The Press" without meeting the question.
3. Conference on new veto techniques.
4. Preparation of statement expressing doubt that the Atlas Rocket is in orbit, and a charge that it is a Walt Disney device. Intimation that the voice is not that of President Eisenhower but of Cecil B. DeMille.
5. Journey to Washington. Weather cold; track slippery.
6. Interview with American officials on trade as affected by Iron Curtains, Nyets, Daily Threats and the boast, "My name is Ivan and I can lick anybody in the house."
7. Discussion of better understandings as influenced by human thumb in the human eye.
8. TV talk with Mikoyan announcing that Ike's Merry Christmas rocket has been met by a Soviet baby moon with a Happy New Year greeting with horns.

Oh Oh, Here He Comes Again!

The Political Pro

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Strange to say, the politician who is close to the hard facts of life, at all times is slow to realize how rapidly those facts are changing.

What we call the professional politician — be he a ward or district leader — fumbles the same old papers, peruses the same old registration lists, sees the same routines as his predecessor did for generations.

If he is in a district safely on the side of his party, he is content to count on his sure majority, with little effort to improve the quality of his organization or to watch the changes that are taking place in his voting constituency.

If he is in a district in which his party never wins, he plods along inured to defeat, getting the little drops of patronage that come his way from a national or state administration which happens to be of his party.

HE WOULD BE terribly upset if in a sweep his party happened to win in the district.

I live in such a hopeless Republican district in New York City. The tiny dribbles of patronage come from an occasional receiver-ship from some of the Republican judges that sit in the county, or from the small jobs passed out in the Post Office at Christmas time.

Nothing changes much, although in the past two years 4,000 people have moved into the district and would be good hunting for a Republican organization.

It is time to reappraise and reconstruct the concept of a professional politician in this country.

What we have always called the "professionals" are people who spend a considerable part of their time in political affairs. They may hold party offices as local or county chairmen or they may have jobs at the courthouse or city hall.

They peddle small favors to small businesses or lawyers or others. But their political methods are as antiquated as hand-cranked telephones and kerosene lamps.

The greatest need in politics today is for professionalism. Organized labor has recognized this, and its methods — so effective in the past 10 years — have brought results.

Their professionals are men and women trained in the rough and ready politics of labor organizations. But they get plenty of real, even formal, instruction in every form of precinct work, in how to make friends, in how to prevent a case in a manner that will move voters.

OUTSIDE OF THAT in traditionally Democratic as well as Republican communities, and also in business — in — politics, complete modernization is needed, including formal teaching in political methods of the most effective, improved forms.

Training of this sort is not centered anywhere. But if some man of means who deprecates the prospect of a one-party government with the New Liberalism rampant would spend a few million dollars in establishing a real institute of politics, smallish but expertly directed, to train professional workers and to do a job of research, he might change the course of political life in 10 years.

I am not thinking of a Republican school or a Democratic school, although there ought to be one for each party. But there should be a school or institute to impart modern methods of political action and to do the thinking and research necessary to enlarge and modernize those methods.

Politics is not a game or a leisure-time matter, or a hobby. It should be a real profession — decent, respected, essential to the preservation of all the values now given only lip service by Americans.

'Liberals' May Cause Defeat In '60

Republicans are still fighting Republicans in the Senate contest for the selection of a leader. Some of the group calling themselves "liberal" give the impression that they want to cease being an opposition party. They show an affinity for what the Democratic "liberals" advocate and perhaps belong in the Democratic party. They seem to be intensifying a feud that could alienate conservative voters of the Republican party throughout the country.

When Sen. Bush of Connecticut says that he wants Sen. Cooper of Kentucky elected leader so as to show that the party "is looking to the future rather than to the past," he is by inference attacking Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, and the conservative group in the Senate.

The Illinois senator was a disciple of Sen. Taft. He has supported the Eisenhower administration on every one of its vital programs, including "civil rights." The function of a Republican leader in the Senate today is not only to carry out by his own vote the wishes of the administration but to persuade other Republicans to support the legislative program of the administration.

THE "LIBERAL" Republicans claim they are 100 per cent behind the Eisenhower administration and always have been. So the main problem is to keep the conservatives in line.

Would a Republican "liberal" who condemns the conservatives be able to accomplish that feat or would he widen the breach in the party? To ask the question is to answer it but the Republican "liberals" are talking as if it didn't matter whether or not they won the conservative Republicans to their side.

What is the real difference among the Republicans in the Senate? Some of them have been stampeded by the last election returns into thinking that conservative Republicanism was repudiated at the polls.

The theory that more and more billions of the taxpayers' money should be expended for "welfare" and that the budget can be kept unbalanced indefinitely has gained round among the "liberals" in both parties.

It's the same old story of New Deal days when it took a war to rescue the country from the heavy unemployment that "leaf-raking" and WPA extravaganzas had failed to cure.

Both "liberals" and "conservatives" on the Republican side really went down to defeat in last month's congressional elections primarily because of the recession. The party in power always suffers when there's a recession.

The next test will come in the approaching session of Congress when the administration announces its policies. These will fit in far more with the established conservative doctrine than with the spending theories of the "liberals."

IT WILL TAKE some sturdy fighting in the Congress to defend the administration's fiscal policies. Anyone who isn't in sympathy with such fiscal policies and believes in the spending ideas of the "liberals" on the Democratic side isn't going to be able to put up much of a battle for the administration.

When the President's message is read to Congress next month it will be denounced by "liberal" Democrats because it will not recommend the spending of the billions they want to see spent.

The administration will be on the defensive and it will need a veteran battler like Sen. Dirksen who is experienced in political combat to inspire the Republican party generally.

It's curious how history repeats itself. Back in 1910 the Republicans lost the House of Representatives to the Democrats for the first time in 18 years. The issue was the "high cost of living" which was based on the protective tariff.

The "liberals" of those days were called "insurgent Republicans." They fought the conservatives so bitterly that two years later the Republican party put two rival presidential tickets in the field, divided the Republican vote and the Democrats easily won the presidency.

There are signs that the 1958 "liberals" in the Republican party are ready to do it again—to divide their own party and force its defeat in 1960.

President Eisenhower is the only man who can keep the "liberals" from breaking up the party and, judging by the firm way he has announced his stand on a balanced budget, the "spending" wing of the party cannot expect much encouragement from him.

The issue of 1960 could well be between a depreciated dollar or a sound dollar. On that issue an overwhelming majority of the people will be found supporting a stable dollar.

Mistaken Identity

By TRUMAN TWILL

It is the season when someone you never saw before may barge up in a crowded room, flash the recognition signal and bellow, "I'll bet you don't remember who I am!"

There is no sure-fire way to deal with this problem, due to laws that make it illegal to shoot fire-arms in densely populated places.

But anything is better than making a guessing game of it.

You can say, pretending to look straight through the intruder at someone standing a short distance away:

"You win the bet, Mac, but this is not the payoff counter. Anyway, I want to say hello to my old tentmate from the Boer War, Sir Anthony Twigg DSC with oak-leaf cluster and Croix de Guerre with sherrerd egg. I have not seen Sir Anthony since we hunted a crocodile on the Pitzcomatose River in the salt marshes of Inner Despondency. If you will excuse me for just a moment..." Then leave the clown standing there with his words in his teeth.

Or you can say, looking straight at the pest, "Of course I know who you are. Everybody knows who you are. You are the great vampire bat that keeps sucking the blood of little babies and has been baffling the best brains of electronic deduction for the last 10 years. There is a price on your head, batty old bongo, which is a sound effect to conceal the actual sound you are going to hear next, which will be a chair broken over your skull unless you get out of range pronto—any goodbye."

Or you can play it sweet, depending on the sex of the intruder, and say, with a coy downward glance:

"I was so afraid you wouldn't remember me, light of my life. Ever since I saw you last, my heart has been aching with wistfulness. Oh to relive those glorious moments, when you and I walked into the sunset together, heads held high in noble resolve to bring honor to our what-you-call-em or die trying. By the way, how long

Thoughts

But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal. — I. Cor. 12:7.

A religion without the Holy Ghost, though it had all the ordinances and all the doctrines of the New Testament, would certainly not be Christianity.—William Arthur.

Miss Frances Sharp Becomes Bride of John R. Matthesen

The marriage of Miss Frances Gordy Sharp and John Robert Matthesen took place Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church.

Judge and Mrs. Joel H. Sharp of 700 Highland Ave. are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. George Matthesen of Orange Conn., and the late Mr. Matthesen.

The Rev. Laten Carter, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The candlelighted sanctuary was decorated with pine boughs and arrangements of white gladioli and snapdragons. Miss Anna Cook presided at the organ for the nuptial melodies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight satin. The fitted bodice featured a sweetheart neckline, and the full skirt was fashioned with a cathedral length train. Her full length veil and cap were made of rosepoint lace worn by her mother and sisters at their weddings. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Matrons of honor were the bride's sisters, Mrs. George H. Dexter of Bloomfield, Conn. and Mrs. Ford F. Miskell of Shaker Heights.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Scott McCorhill of Salem, Mrs. Peter VanBuren Crandall of Sewickley, Pa.; Miss Mary Jane Gordy of Woodbridge, Conn.; and Miss Mary Lucinda Thomson of Higganum, Conn.

Mrs. Miskell wore a short gown of emerald velvet styled with a fitted bodice, scoop neck and full skirt. Mrs. Dexter and the bridesmaids wore crimson gowns of the same design. All the attendants carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and red roses.

Miss Lucia Dexter of Bloomfield, Conn., the bride's niece, was flower girl. She wore a red velvet dress and carried a colonial bouquet.

Ring bearer, Jeffrey Miskell of Shaker Heights, is a nephew of the bride.

Benjamin L. Matthesen of Denver, Colo., served as best man. Joel H. Sharp Jr. of Salem, Robert B. Watrous and Ford F. Miskell, both of Shaker Heights; James A. Fairchild and George H. Dexter, Everett A. Clark of West Hartford, both of Bloomfield, Conn. and Conn., were ushers.

Pink sweetheart roses complemented Mrs. Sharp's imported blue lace gown. Mrs. Matthesen, dressed in brown lace over taffeta, wore yellow sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

A graduate of Walnut Hill School for Girls and Wellesley College, the bride took her junior year abroad at Institut d'Etudes Poitiques in Paris, France.

Helping Dreamers to Dream Keeps America Strong

It has always been the dreamers of better ways of doing things who have made our lives more worthwhile.

Yet the dreamer of today, if he is to contribute to our progress, must be an educated dreamer. He must have the training to dream beyond the present, beyond the knowledge we have now.

Our colleges and universities are the places our dreams are given direction. Ironically, today they face a crisis. Low salaries are driving qualified teachers into other fields. Many classrooms are overcrowded. And applications are expected to double by 1967.

Won't you help the college of your choice now? The returns will be greater than you think.

Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council and the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

a half miles north of Lisbon, at 9:30 a.m., patrolmen said.

Cars driven by Albert Kosower, 44, of Lisbon and Hazel Schieben, 19, of Leetonia collided when the latter's car went left of center.

A car operated by Joseph Giovanotto, 35, Cleveland slowed to avoid hitting Kosower's auto, and another car driven by Charles Pickens, 19, of East Liverpool struck Giovanotto's auto from the rear, impelling it into Kosower's auto.

Miss Schieben was treated at Salem City Hospital for contusions of the nose.

Giovanotto sustained lacerations of the lip and right eye. He was brought to Salem City Hospital and then transferred to Alliance City Hospital.

In a Saturday mishap, cars driven by Newton Blake Jr., 32, of Alliance and Richard Solomon, 20, of 1089 N. Ellsworth Ave. sideswiped on the Butler - Grange Rd. near Homeworth at 1 p.m.

This and That

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Safety belts in automobiles could save at least 19,000 lives in the country each year and reduce injuries by 50 per cent, a Cornell University research group estimates.

Motor cars now kill someone every 14 minutes ... and injure someone every 23 seconds.

Love this sign on the fence of a Texas yard bordering a golf green: "I'm a golfer, too, and I understand. But we are raising three little children behind this fence. Please try to refrain from enriching their vocabularies."

The brief leaf: Scientists figure that each year leaves trap and store from the sun energy equal to that released by burning 300 million tons of coal.

The Romans really believed in a clean army ... their troops built portable baths and carried them along on battle campaigns.

Most Americans seem to have lost the art of walking ... but U.S. factories still turn out up to 5,000 pairs of shoes a minute.

Poor posture is now becoming common among American children as young as 4 years old ... some authorities blame it on lack of enough protein in the diet ... Incidentally, studies now show that farm diets are better in most nutrients than those of city people.

How many Christmas cards did you get? ... The average family now sends out 65 cards, the average business firm about 145 ... the three-billion Christmas cards mailed this year weighed about 100,000 tons ... which explains why many mailmen prefer the Fourth of July.

Don't feel bad if you can't figure out why moths always fly to the light ... scientists have many theories, but proof is difficult.

Here's some good advice from international attorney Arthur W. A. Cowan: "Don't ever worry about getting even with a man if you have to stoop to his level to do so."

Denise Lor, the singer, has an unusual idiosyncrasy ... before singing, she "warms up" by holding an ice cube in her mouth for five minutes ... her explanation: "I read somewhere it's good for the throat."

Julia Meade, perhaps television's leading "pitch lady," earns about $150,000 doing commercials ... She has 75 cocktail dresses in her wardrobe.

How many juvenile delinquents do we have? ... roughly 500,000 children aged 10 through 17 appear in court each year ... that's about 2.2 per cent of the U.S. children—or roughly one out of every 45.

In the pre-Civil War era 75 per cent of Southerners owned no slaves at all.

Only 25 per cent of the U.S. land area is suited to growing crops.

Among the delicacies that Marco Polo, the 13th century globe-trotter, found in China were spaghetti and ice cream ... but positively no chop suey.

How often do you bathe your dog? ... the American Humane Assn. says that three or four times a year is plenty ... if the animal is brushed and combed regularly.

It was Albert Einstein who observed, "The man who regards

Teach Child Early About Money Values

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE
(NEA Staff Writer)

Ever wonder what gets "hashed over" at coffee-break time?

I asked this recently. To my surprise, the group was hotly debating how to handle that bit of cash that each one of them is setting aside regularly for the future education of their children.

This group—and they are not unique—wanted a cut-and-dried answer, a formula, a plan.

I asked what alternatives had been considered. These three were offered:

A savings account; an insurance policy specifically for educational purposes; investment in common stocks.

THERE IS NO absolute answer to which of these methods is best. A number of factors are involved, most important of which are how much you are able to save in any given year and how many years you've got in which to save this money.

If your ability to put money aside is limited, a savings account might well be a good place to begin this program. Push hard to see how much cash you can accumulate, and when this nest-egg looks good diversify, aiming possibly for a return higher than the 3 to 3½ per cent you'll get from a bank. Give heed to the likelihood that as time marches on your dollars will be buying you less and less.

An insurance program is excellent. It offers the advantage that here you really have to save. If you are not the strong-willed type perhaps you should begin here.

Most usual type of policy chosen for education is straight life guaranteeing that sufficient funds, plus a cash accumulation will be available regardless of whether or not you are still around come graduation day. The cost of such a policy varies with the amount of the policy and the number of years the policy has to run. On a $10,000 15-year policy expect around $230 in annual premiums.

STRAIGHT ENDOWMENT type policies are sometimes recommended for educational purposes. The cost of these is higher. Weigh one type against the other to suit your own needs, remembering all the while that these policies can be written into your family's overall insurance program.

Saving via common-stock purchase has considerable merit since if you put the emphasis on growth issues, here is one place you really have a chance to see your dollars multiply.

If you are thinking of common stocks as a savings vehicle for future educational needs, inquire whether you might do well—or badly — to register this stock in your child's name. Here seek expert tailor-made-for-you guidance.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Quietly, with no publicity hughes blowing, Richard Nixon has been attempting to end the civil war between the Republican administration and the nation's labor leaders.

At high noon on Thursday, Nov. 20, had you been stalking the Capitol's corridors, you would have noted two men from labor's national headquarters checking their propaganda guns outside the vice president's office. Seconds later they were deep in conversation so characteristic of President Eisenhower's second-in-command.

Mr. Nixon spent most of his time asking, probing for advice — and listening carefully. This time he listened to William Schnitzler, second-in-command of the AFL-CIO and to lean, dry-humored Mike Ross, the AFL-CIO's foreign affairs expert.

Later, Dick Nixon told friends that he believed their advice had helped make his daring trip to Britain the impeccable success it was.

THE LABOR MEN had come at Nixon's invitation. He asked for a briefing on what to expect from British political leaders — especially the Socialist Labor party officialdom in London.

What really were their interests? What policies were they really pushing? What did they really think of the Soviets?

Nixon got a thorough run-down in this secret talk. In the final few minutes, he told Schnitzler that labor's international in fighting against the Communists was of great help to the U.S. Husky Bill Schnitzler batted this one right back.

"We'd do better if we had more money to spend on this battle and we'd have more money if we didn't have to spend so much of it fighting the 'right-to-work' proposals," the AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer said.

Then Dick Nixon, knowing full well that this off-the-record talk was not intended to be off-the-record from Schnitzler's colleagues, said quietly: "Forget about the 'right-to-work' laws. I doubt they will be pushed again."

It was apparent to the two labor officials that Dick Nixon was previewing his 1960 self — though that is not why he had asked them to drop in.

They left, confident they had the vice president's word on "right-to-work." They left feeling that Nixon had, in effect, said he wanted no war with them; that they could differ but where the labor leaders could help the government, he wanted to work with them quietly and, when necessary, without fanfare as in this unreported session.

THE MEETING would have stayed off-the-record if a couple of insiders hadn't discussed the Nov. 20 get-together while they were at another, larger private gathering on another Thursday, exactly a month later. That was on Dec. 18, in New York City.

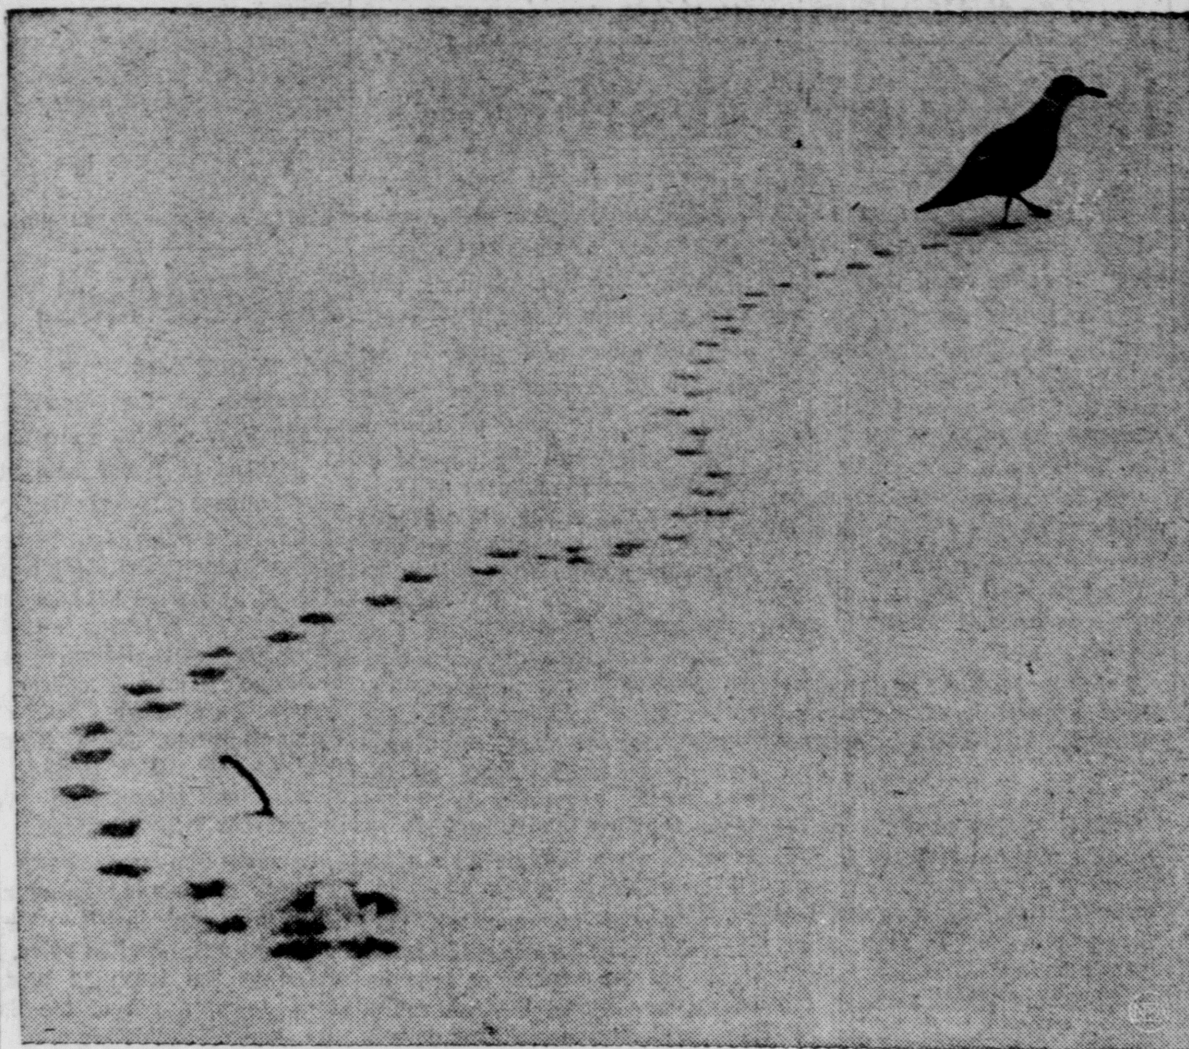

They were in a group of 53 New York labor chiefs. This was a selected list drawn up for the host, Gov.-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller, by his labor adviser, Victor Borella. The latter is executive vice-president of Rockefeller Center. Among other Borella duties are the center's labor relations.

The 53 union chiefs, including such ardent New Deal nostalgists as David Dubinsky and Alex Rose, found themselves mixing genially with Mr. Rockefeller in the executive offices of Radio City Music Hall. Most of the unionists were but names to the new governor. He grinned when he made them welcome with a short speech. This began with "Little did I realize that I would be in this position..."

DUBINSKY, the irrepressible, heckled laughingly, "You can't blame us for that..." The crowd roared. There was not one of them who had supported Rockefeller for election.

Rockefeller chuckled. Then he went on to say that he believed in a two-party system. Turning to Liberal party leader Alex Rose, the governor-elect said, "Even in a two-and-a-half party system."

Becoming serious, the Republican leader stated he would not permit himself to be moved by one pressure group against any other. It was obvious he meant he would forget they had been on the other side. There was talk of his starting new pro-labor program soon to be unveiled.

It was obvious, too, that another Republican chief of national stature was saying that he wanted no civil war with the labor men.

Kiwanians To Entertain Wives, Install New Officers Tonight

COLUMBIANA — W. Gayl Gloss, high school principal, will be installed as president of the Kiwanis Club for 1959 during a "Ladies Night" program this evening at Dixon School. He will succeed Kenneth Gormley.

Other new officers to be seated include Harold Armstrong, vice president; and George Huk, Charles Rohrer and Gus Isaksson, directors.

A feature of the evening will be the presentation of the skit, "Papa Is All" by the Youngstown Playhouse Players.

RAY MAURER, chairman of the Rotary Club's information committee, has charge of the program to be presented this evening at Valley Golf Club.

The Historical Society of Columbiana and Fairfield Township, accumulating mementoes from the area's early days, has issued a particular request through its president, Miss Leila Beard. The society would like to secure a mortising machine reportedly invented and manufactured in Columbiana by Reuben Strickler, one of the town's first industrialists.

The historical unit already has in its collection one of the boring machines devised by Strickler and which became the foundation for a once-flourishing business here. Miss Beard said the society also would like to add to its collection any of the hand tools in the pioneer and development days of the community.

Camera Club members will meet Monday evening, Jan. 12, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gaver on Vine St.

Among local servicemen spending the holidays at home are: Army Pvt. Charles Stark of Fort Monmouth, N.J., visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Stark, 29 N. Cross St., and Marine Cpl. George Oaks of Cherry Point, N.C., visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Oaks of Court St.

MRS. ERMA WILSON returned Saturday after a four day visit with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schreiber at Navarre.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Thayer of Magnolia, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fullerton and Mrs. Katie Miller enjoyed that holiday dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Miller of Youngstown.

The South Side Club will have a holiday dinner Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at a local restaurant then return to the home of Mrs. Cora Henry for the afternoon social hour including the Christmas grab bag. Friends of Mrs. Lucille Breckenridge Bandy of Whittier, Calif., have received word from her saying she is recovering nicely from her recent stroke.

The sewing circle of the Grace Church will hold the regular meeting Thursday (New Years Day) at 10 a.m. A special dinner is planned for noon.

Dr. and Mrs. Jim Garstick were recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Garstick of Warren.

All are invited to attend the New Year's Eve services in the Grace Church beginning at 11:30 p.m. The laymen from the different Columbiana churches will have charge of the program.

Mrs. Virginia Knauer was honored on her 80th birthday at a Christmas tea on Dec. 23, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Evan Roller. An out-of-town guest was Mrs. Knauer's sister, Mrs. Geo. Beck of Crestline.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Biddison and two daughters left Sunday morning for their home in Beaufort, S.C., after visiting the past week with relatives and friends in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hawkins, formerly of Columbiana, but now living in Washingtonville, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Dec. 30. Glen Hawkins, south of Columbiana, is a son.

Miss Ruth Alta Messersmith is spending two weeks at her home from her studies at Capital University, Columbus. Ruth is taking a nursing course and getting that training at the Grant Hospital. She is the daughter of Mr. Walter Messersmith of S. Main St.

South Atlantic Ships

On Lookout for Balloon

LONDON (AP) — A new call went out Sunday night for south Atlantic and Caribbean shipping to watch for the British balloon trying to span the Atlantic. Venezuelan officials decided a report that it had come down in their country was a hoax.

The London Daily Mail, sponsor of the 3,000-mile trip, requested Lloyd's marine insurance agency to put out the radio message.

The 46-foot balloon, carrying four Britons, is trying to float from the Canary Islands to Barbadoes in the West Indies. It was last heard from Dec. 17.

Although the lack of radio messages has raised fears for the safety of the Small World's crew, the craft is not actually overdue.

Colts Turn Back Giants 23-17 in Sudden Death Playoff

Baltimore Cops Crown in NFL

Alan Ameche Scores TD in Extra Period

NEW YORK (AP) — If they play pro football for 100 years, they never can top Baltimore's first championship snatched in a sudden death playoff 23-17 after New York refused to gamble.

The Giants coddled a 17-14 lead with 2½ minutes to play after an electrifying second half comeback. It was fourth down and inches to go on New York's 43. A first down probably would have permitted the Giants to run out the clock on four ground plays. A punt would give the Colts another chance.

Go for broke? Or play it safe? Coach Jim Lee Howell elected to play it safe. The Giants punted, Baltimore struck back to within scoring range and tied the score 17-17 on Steve Myhra's 20-yard field goal.

Johnny Unitas' passing and Alan Ameche's inspired running produced the winning touchdown in 13 plays in 8:15.

Through the long winter nights many will question Howell's strategy. If he had gambled and not made the yardage, a Baltimore field goal was almost a sure thing. So he played it safe and lost anyhow.

Perhaps the most gripping moment in the heart throb special came when Myhra, who had done double duty as linebacker after Leo Sanford's first period injury, kicked his hurried field goal. The clock showed only 10 seconds were left when he booted the ball high against the glare of the stadium lights.

The Giants and most of the home crowd of 64,185 fans thought they got a break when they won the toss of the coin and chose to receive in the sudden death extra period, the first ever played in a regular championship game.

Once again they came to a 4th and 1 situation but this time they were deep in their own territory on the New York 29. A messed up gamble would have given the Colts a sure game-ending field goal. The punt was the obvious strategy and Chandler boomed a lone one that Taseff returned a yard to the Colts' 20.

In 13 plays Baltimore's fine offense ground out a touchdown with Ameche crushing over right guard from the 1 through a gaping hole. Unitas, who couldn't play when the Giants beat the Colts 24-21 in the regular season because of three damaged ribs, was simply tremendous. The former Louisville star, who was snatched from the sandlots by the Colts, completed 26 of 40 passes from 349 yards.

Time after time he hit Ray Berry, who caught 12, on beautiful pass patterns that split the Giants' defense.

Gino Marchetti, who suffered a broken ankle and was carried off the field on a stretcher late in the game, rushed Giants' quarterback Charley Conerly all afternoon. The Colts' defensive line was superb, giving Conerly little time.

Conerly connected with Bob Schnelker for a 46-yard pass on the first play of the fourth period and threw to Frank Gifford and the touchdown that put the Giants ahead with only 53 seconds gone in the period. Pat Summerall's second conversion made it 17-14.

Two Baltimore thrusts were blunted by the Giants, one when Bert Rechichar's 46-yard field goal attempt failed. With time running out, the Giants racked up one first down and reached the New York 43 on 4th and 1 (actually inches) when they punted and the Colts came back with their tying field goal.

All the statistics ran heavily in favor of the Colts. Few were inclined to dispute coach Webb Ewbank when he said, "We just had to win because this was the better ball club out there."

The record gross receipts of $698,646 including the $200,000 television fee, made for the richest payoff ever. Each full Colt share will be $4,718.77. Each Giant gets $3,111.33.

Bradley's Cage Squad Could Be Real 'Sleeper'

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Is Bradley a lucky basketball team or one of the nation's real sleepers?

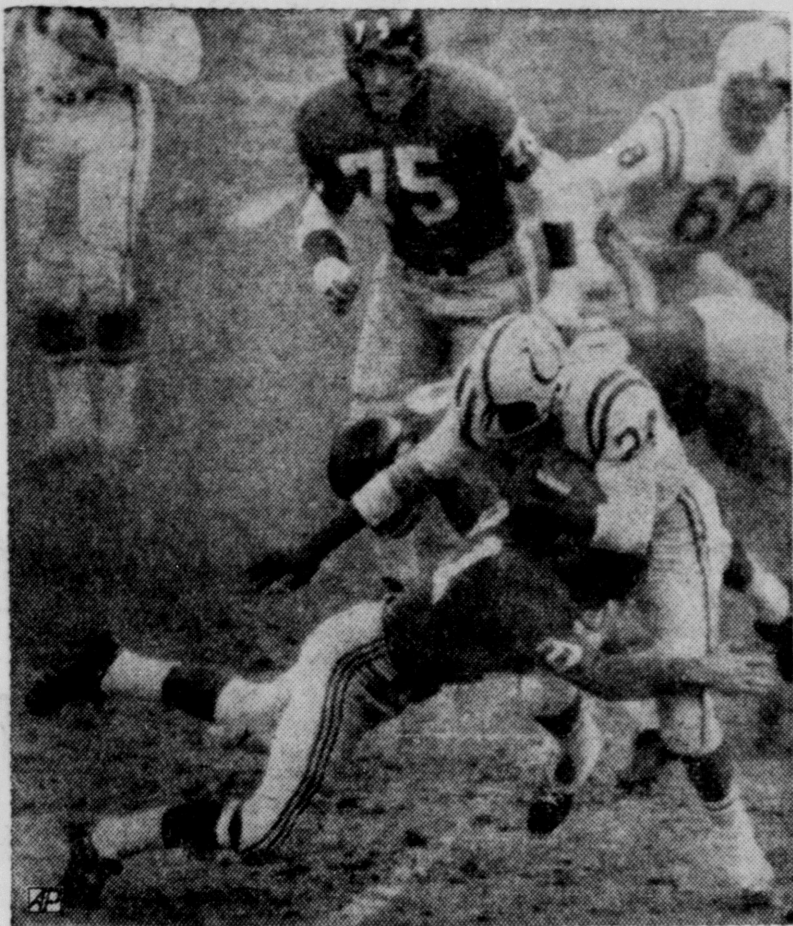

Coach Chuck Osborne, looking over his club's 7-0 record, says "We've been lucky so far."

After his Bulldogs had lost to Bradley 90-73 Saturday night, Gonzaga Coach Hank Anderson had this comment:

"Bradley's got it."

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

By The Associated Press
Temperatures will average three to six degrees above normal. Normal high 35 north to 41 south. Normal low 21-24. Slightly colder Tuesday, little change in temperature Wednesday and Thursday, warmer Friday and Saturday. Precipitation will total about one-half inch with rain about Wednesday night or Thursday and again Saturday.

COLT TAKES A LOSS — Baltimore Colt halfback Lenny Moore (24) is hit by New York Giants back Carl Karilivacz (21) for a two-yard loss in first quarter of the championship game at Yankee Stadium. Indentifiable are tackle Jim Campavage (75) of Giants and guard Alex Sandusky (68) of Colts.

FINGERTIP CATCH — Alex Webster (29), New York Giants back, makes one-handed catch of pass from quarterback Don Heinrich in first period at Yankee Stadium in New York. Pass was good for seven yards to the Giants' 27-yard line. Teammate Wietecha (55), a center, runs beside Webster.

30,000 Fans Greet Champs At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — After 11 long years of waiting, it finally was "next year" for Baltimore Colt fans.

So when the Colts rallied to win the National Football League championship, defeating the New York Giants 23-17 in sudden death overtime Sunday, it lifted the lid on a lot of pent up emotion.

A crowd estimated by police in excess of 30,000 turned out at Friendship International Airport to welcome home the champions. It was Baltimore's first winner since the Colts joined the old All-America Conference in 1947 and shifted to the NFL in 1950.

Three trainloads of spectators who witnessed the title game in New York's Yankee Stadium paraded and shouted their way through Pennsylvania Station.

Elsewhere in the city there was bedlam.

Soon after Alan Ameche plunged over for the winning touchdown, residents rushed outside into mild winter temperatures to dance, set off fireworks and shout the praise of the Colts.

"The Colts won. The Colts won," was the off-headed cheer. Bells rang. Auto horns sounded. Main one-way streets leading into the city were jammed with bumper-tot bumper traffic.

At the airport, the crown became unruly, damaged several vehicles, and threw flares and fireworks. A near panic developed when hundreds of persons were jammed into a small area as a bus carrying Colt players inched its way through the mob.

One window in the bus was broken and about 30 fans climbed on the roof to lead cheers. Police later picked up 14 of the roof riders after the bus was taken to a lonely road about one mile from the airport. No charges were placed.

The crowd at the airport overwhelmed some 90 policemen and special guards as they stormed through a rope barrier.

Richard J. Gatling, chiefly known as inventor of the rapid-fire gun, also invented the first wheat-cutting machine in the United States in 1830.

Olmedo Crushes Mal Anderson

Barry MacKay Falls To Ashley Cooper

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Alex Olmedo crushed Mal Anderson, but Barry MacKay fell before the smooth strokes of Ashley Cooper today to give the United States and Australia one victory apiece in the opening singles of the Davis Cup Challenge Round.

The results also made Perry Jones, the controversial 70-year-old U.S. captain, look alternately like a slick old genius and a not-so-smart old-timer.

It was Jones who convinced U.S. brass that Olmedo, a Peruvian, should be put on the team. It also was Jones who bypassed Hamilton Richardson, the No. 1 U.S. player, for MacKay over the former's violent protests.

Olmedo whipped Anderson 8-6, 2-6, 9-7, 8-6 in a magnificent uphill battle. Cooper, after writhing under MacKay's bullet services for one set, came out on top 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

So now it's a brand new match. The doubles are scheduled for Tuesday with Olmedo teaming with Richardson and Cooper pairing with left-handed Neale Fraser for the Australians. It is in the doubles that the Americans were conceded their best chance in pre-match forecasts.

The courts were soaked from a tropical storm the night before, and all four players donned spikes at one time or another. Despite the canvas covering, some rain seeped onto the turf of the Milton Tennis Stadium.

Olmedo, 22, the first foreigner ever to play on a U.S. Davis Cup team, more than acquitted himself before the sellout crowd of 18,500.

He hauled himself off the deck a couple of times when he appeared ready to take the count, and slugged it out toe-to-toe with Anderson until the tide of battle changed.

As for MacKay, he tried to put his service right through Cooper for three sets.

His strategy worked for one set, but then Cooper began merely keeping the ball in play and waiting for the proper spot to go for his winners.

That finished MacKay. In the final set, Barry also decided to change his tactics and he gave up trying to overpower Cooper. By that time it was too late.

Cincinnati Meets Wake Forest In Dixie Classic Tournament

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati, Ohio's only major unbeaten college basketball team, will be moving into a hornets' nest today when the Bearcats start play in the Dixie Classic.

Oscar Robertson and company take on not-to-tough Wake Forest in the tourney opener. But the second-ranked Bearcats may have to tangle with any one of three classy teams before they can wear the coveted dixie crown.

In addition to unbeaten North Carolina, ranked No. 3, there are Michigan State, No. 9, and North Carolina State, No. 6 to contend with.

Two other highly touted Ohio quintets were knocked from the unbeaten ranks last week, leaving only Steubenville, Case and Ohio Northern, along with Cincinnati, with untarnished records.

Dayton saw its victory skein snapped at seven by St. John's (N.Y.) in the ECAC Holiday Festival semi-final round Saturday. The Flyers lost, 76-63, after winning Friday against Niagara, 84-79.

Xavier's streak was cut at five Monday when Marquette walloped the Muskies, 86-71. The Cincinnati school absorbed a second defeat Saturday in a 81-54 loss to Oklahoma City. The setback came in a semi-final tiff of the All College Tournament at Oklahoma City.

Ohio State upped its record to 3-4 with two straight wins, the first an impressive 92-69 thrashing of Utah. The Buckeyes thumped Princeton Saturday, 75-66, in a regionally televised game.

Youngstown got off to a good start in the NAIA Tipoff beating Rockhurst, Ill., 77 - 71 Saturday, and advanced to second round play.

Bowling Green (3-3) split a pair in the All College Tourney, winning a first round battle against Wichita but losing in the semi-final to upstart Duquesne, 69-65.

Miami, starting an ambitious road tour, whipped DePaul Saturday, 74-67. Akron turned back Seattle Tuesday, 70-63.

Buckeye teams now have won 58 and lost 45 in interstate competition and in the process have tallied 7,617 points to their opponents' 7,532.

In some of the top games this week, Ohio State entertains Brigham Young New Year's night and journeys to Champaign for the Big Ten opener against Illinois Saturday; Miami takes on NYU in the Hurricane Tourney at

Sports Sketches

By GORDON ARNDT

Something happened to the Quakers during the second half of their near upset of Cleveland East Tech last Friday which was greatly in contrast to the usual performance of Salem clubs during the third and fourth quarters.

This reversal was that the locals just couldn't hit. They made but 2 of 11 in the third frame and only 4 of 22 shots in the last stanza. This adds up to a second half mark of 6 for 33 for but 18 per cent.

A coach may feel justified in "chewing" his players for making simple mistakes but what can he do when his cagers are shooting as if there were a lid on the basket.

Salem's Lou Slaby and Clyde Marks gave East Tech's gigantic rebounders a run for their money but they just couldn't keep going for 32 minutes against such a preponderance of height. It would not have been bad had the Scarabs possessed but one 6-8 lad but they had two of them plus one man 6-6.

SALEM had a heck of a time even getting a shot off in the third period. Tech would either block the shot or prevent an attempt altogether. Salem had tried 20 shots in the first period and 22 in the last eight minutes.

Figures compiled by Demps Balsley show that Tech out-rebounded Salem 46-29. Despite this overwhelming margin its safe to say the Quakers would still have won the game had they been hitting. However accuracy at shooting is that trademark in a game which determines a winner and a loser and because Salem faltered in the late stages they became the latter and not the former.

Tech's tremendous height really revealed itself when the Scarabs tried a shot.

With 6-8 Ed Ferguson along with 6-6 Ken Glenn and high-jumping 6-3 LaMoyné Porter the Tech cagers battled ruthlessly for rebounds. This enabled the tall visitors to get five and six shots at a time at the basket in comparison to the Quakers who usually got but one effort at Tech's goal. Here in was the factor which turned the tide for Tech because they weren't doing this in the first half.

PERSONALLY, I would not have felt so bad had Salem trailed by eight or 10 points throughout the game. However they shot into the lead at the outset and even as late as four minutes to go in the third period they led 45-33. In forfeiting this nice margin within the last 12 minutes is what kind of disappointed me Salem came so darn close yet were so far away when the final buzzer sounded.

I can't really be too disappointed however or even critical about the Quakers because they were playing the state champions. East Tech has now won 32 straight because they can shoot and rebound and because they have tremendous height and experience.

Salem fans saw the trademark of a champion. Here was a team outplayed, outshot and outshot for 20 minutes. They trailed by 12 points with 12 minutes left. But, they didn't falter. They rallied and came storming back using all their inborn weapons to maximum advantage.

I believe it is a gross understatement to say. Salem can feel proud of themselves. For a team that was "outeighted" four inches a man, the Salemites gave a most admirable performance of themselves.

I WONDER what the score would have been had Salem been playing East Tech in a tournament game. It's conceivable that these two teams could meet again in way the arrangement has been set up. Salem will play sectional games all at Youngstown's South High field house. They'll be competing against teams that will form sectional tourneys in Youngstown and struthers if they advance to district play.

Considering Salem's performance against a strongstate champion along with what games remain on their schedule and while not wishing to make the Quakers overconfident, I think its reasonable to assume that Salem has lost its last regular season game this year.

This was the first time this season that Tech was down by 10 at the half. It's no wonder what with the scores that they had posted previously. They had been averaging almost 85 a game to a defensive mark of 44. Salem shattered this both ways.

Sam Franklin of East Tech was removed in the second period when he obtained a charley horse in an abdominal muscle.

TWO VISITING sports writers were in the crowd They were Chuck Cronin of the East Liverpool Review and Ed DeGraw of the Alliance Review. Saw three rival coaches also in John Karaffa of East Liverpool, Charley Joachim of Rayen and Joe Bassett of Niles.

For you fans who worship the Associated Press poll, the Quakers should easily be in the top ten when the first poll comes out shortly.

Already I've heard one fan say "...bet East Tech doesn't win the state title again. What do you think? Personally, I want to see some other results before I make a prediction.

Speaking of predictions I must admit that I tabbed East Tech to beat Salem by 22 so I missed by 13. However, by the same token I had picked the Quakers over Struthers by 23 and it was 24. I have them by 21 over Columbiana and it was 29. In the East Palestine contest I had picked Salem by 17 and the score was 74-57. Just to make it interesting from now on in, I'll predict the margin each game just to see how much razzing falls my way.

Pettit, Sears Top Balloting For All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) —Bob Pettit, scoring ace of the St. Louis Hawks and Kenny Sears, New York Knickerbocker star, topped the voting today for the National Basketball Assn. All-Star game.

The game, between hand-picked aces of the Western and Eastern divisions, will be played in Detroit Jan. 23.

Writers and sportscasters selected 10 players announced by NBA President Maurice Podoloff. The remaining five players on each squad will be named by the coaches next week.

The lone newcomer is rookie Elgin Baylor, former Seattle All-America now with the Minneapolis Lakers. The other nine have seen action in the annual All-Star event with Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics booked for his ninth successive game.

In addition to Sears and Cousy, the Eastern squad is composed of Bill Russell and Bill Sharman of Boston and Paul Arizin of Philadelphia.

Members of the Western squad include Pettit, Baylor, Cliff Hagan and Slater Martin of the Hawks and Gene Shue of Detroit.

Only one NBA game was played Sunday as the Cincinnati Royals handed the Minneapolis Lakers their fourth straight setback, 80-116.

Jack Twyman paced the Royals with 32 points.

In Saturday night games, Boston tightened its hold on first place in the Eastern Division with a 112-94 decision over the Lakers. New York remained four games back by downing Syracuse 106-102 and Philadelphia turned back St. Louis 114-108 in overtime.

Colts' Gino Marchetti Breaks Two Leg Bones

BALTIMORE (AP) —Defensive end Gino Marchetti of the NFL Champion Baltimore Colts will have two broken bones in his right leg set today.

Kentucky Puts Perfect Record On Line Against Midshipmen

By The Associated Press
The college basketball fan heard giving out with "I wish I were in Dixie" isn't whistling in the dark. He's in tune with the times, brother.

For while more than a dozen holiday tournaments are on the schedule today, the majority of the big boys have converged on Raleigh, N.C., for the Dixie Classic.

Four of the nation's top ten teams entered the Dixie, and tomorrow night's semifinals could see them banging heads in a doubleheader, providing all survive today's opening round.

Cincinnati (No. 2) met Wake Forest, North Carolina (No. 3) faced Louisville, N.C. State (No. 6) was paired with Yale and Michigan State (No. 9) took on Duke.

Meanwhile, unbeaten Kentucky, idle for a week after winning its own invitational tournament, puts its No. 1 ranking on the line against Navy at Lexington. The Kentucky boys have won eight straight this season.

Championships will be decided tonight in ECAC Holiday Festival at New York, the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City, the Far West Classic at Corvallis, Ore., the Queen City Invitational at Buffalo, N.Y., and the Southwest Conference tournament at Houston.

The Big Eight tourney reaches the semifinals with the championship Tuesday night.

The Motor City, Orange Bowl, Gator Bowl, Sugar Bowl and Richmond Invitational tournaments, all four-team affairs, get under way tonight, while the Carrousel Tournament at Charlotte, N.C., an eight-team battle like the Dixie, opened with a twinbill this afternoon.

The ECAC final matches St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and St. John's of New York, a pair of once-beaten teams.

Oklahoma City and Duquesne clash for the All-College title.

Favorite Texas Christian and darkhorse Texas A&M play for the pre-season Southwest crown.

Oregon State tackles Iowa in Far West showdown.

Canisius and Dartmouth play the big one in the Queen City.

Kansas State lived up to its favorite tag with a 69-66 first round triumph over Missouri in the Big Eight's first round at Kansas City, while Oklahoma State went under 55-48 to Nebraska. Colorado meets Nebraska in one semi tonight, while K-State plays Oklahoma.

Michigan State's Princeton and Army tests Detroit in openers at the Motor City tourney at Detroit.

Pietrosante of Irish Named Most Valuable

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"He's going to be a great pro," Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty declared in lauding Notre Dame fullback Nick Pietrosante, voted the Most Valuable Player in the East-West game.

Of performances in Saturday's annual charity classic for the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital, there could be others in the same category.

Pietrosante scored two touchdowns as the East won 26-14 and as Daugherty put it, "He was our first-down getter."

The 210-pounder from Ansonia, Conn., gained 95 yards in 20 carries, including his touchdown bursts from three and two yards out. That should be good news for the Detroit Lions, who drafted him.

Michigan State's Sam Williams, a 225-pound end from Dansville,

Mich., drafted three years ago by the Los Angeles Rams while in military service, won honors as the top lineman. The 27-year-old end stopped the first West drive by throwing quarterback Lee Grosscup, Utah, for losses of five and two yards and kept up that kind of play all day.

Eddie Dove, a swifty from Colorado, gladdened the hearts of San Francisco 49er fans among the 60,000 in Kezar Stadium when he picked off an East pass by Frank Kremblas and rambled 84 yards for the West's second touchdown.

The distance equaled an earlier run by Dick Haley of Pittsburgh on a kickoff return. Most players and coaches felt Haley's third-quarter dash—with his team behind 6-7—was the game's turning point.

Wage Reports for Domestic Workers Due by Jan. 31

Employers of household workers are reminded by William J. McCauley, district manager of the Youngstown social security office, not to forget the deadline for reporting earnings of and paying the social security taxes for their domestic employees.

The report for the quarter ending in December must be filed by Jan. 31.

Each such employee who is paid $50 or more cash wages in the calendar quarter must be included in the report, McCauley said that the simplified envelope type of tax return which the Internal Revenue Service provides is the easiest way for most employers to furnish the necessary information and to pay the social security tax.

Each employee must be reported by name, social security account number and amount of cash wages paid. The employee's tax is 2 1/2 percent and the employer's share is 2 1/2 percent, a total of 4 1/2 percent of the wages paid. Beginning with wages paid in 1959 the tax will be 2 1/2 percent for each.

These returns will serve as the base for determining whether social security benefits are payable, and the amount of the monthly benefit rate. It is therefore very important that the reports be prepared properly and be filed on time.

For further information regarding social security tax returns, residents should consult their nearest Internal Revenue office.

One Driver Fined, Two Leave Bonds In Lisbon

LISBON — Bernard J. Tenzek, 40, of Lisbon RD 2, was fined $75 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail at a hearing Saturday before Mayor John Todd on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Two others forfeited bonds when they failed to appear for hearings. Samuel E. Reese, 42, of Youngstown forfeited a $50 bond for reckless driving, and Theodore Wilson, 34, of Cleveland forfeited a $10 bond for speeding.

All were cited by the state highway patrol.

The term Prakrit languages is applied to the Aryan vernacular dialects of India, especially the medieval vernaculars, as distinguished from the Sanskrit.

U.S. Jet Plane Crashes In England; One Killed

KESGRAVE, England (AP)—A crashing U.S. Air Force jet tore a 100-yard-long trail of destruction through this village today, killing one resident.

The plane, its engine afire, plowed into the ground only a minute after taking off. It killed a woman, injured several other persons, wrecked a gas station and a house and damaged several others.

The pilot, 1st Lt. Charles L. Prescott, Santa Monica, Calif., parachuted to safety unhurt.

DIES OF LEUKEMIA

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. June Walter, 22-year-old mother of two, learned three weeks ago she had leukemia. She had one wish to die in her native land.

But Saturday night she hemorrhaged and Sunday morning she died — one day before she was scheduled to leave.

MEETING IS CANCELED

The regular meeting of Butler Grange scheduled for Wednesday night has been canceled.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 14.

ROTARIANS TO HEAR CADET

Richard Coppock, a cadet at the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, will speak at the Rotary Club's noon luncheon Tuesday at the Memorial Building.

Dr. Bruno Stanga is program chairman.

PEEPING TOM CAUGHT

DALLAS (AP)—Bouncers at a burlesque house thought they had caught a burglar when a man crashed through the ceiling of the dressing room, narrowly missing three strippers.

But the man insisted he had not come to rob a safe on the second floor. He said he was just a patron who had climbed up to the attic to peep into the dressing room. While squinting through the peephole, he said, he lost his balance and fell through.

Don Jordan Arrested As Narcotics Suspect

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Officers arrested world welterweight boxing champion Don Jordan on suspicion of narcotics possession Sunday.

Four other young men in a car with him also were booked.

Jordan denied any knowledge of a freshly crushed marijuana cigarette butt which officer Robert Ludwig said he found on the floor of the back seat.

Jordan, 24, won the 147-pound crown Dec. 5 from Virgil Akins. Jordan was released later on $1,000 bail.

ELECTION SCHEDULED

ATLANTA (AP) —While most folks are resting from New Year's Eve, Thursday will be election day for citizens of suburban North Atlanta.

The charter for this community of 15,000 calls for elections to be held the first Thursday in January.

KIWANIS TO INSTALL

Kiwanis Club will install officers at a meeting Wednesday noon in the Memorial Building. Guy Mauro will conduct the ceremonies.

Members who missed last Wednesday's meeting may make up their attendance Tuesday at 6:10 p.m. in the Lutheran Church in Leetonia.

FIRE HITS HOSPITAL

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — About patients of the Topeka State Mental Hospital were removed without injury Sunday after fire broke out in a 70-year-old wing of the building.

Playwright Williams Gives Warning to World

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Playwright Tennessee Williams gives the human race 10 years if it doesn't settle down in amity.

"People talk glibly about what kind of cars they will have in 1970 and how long it will take to get to the moon," Williams told a Sunday Herald interviewer.

"We have speeded up time itself, travel in jets . . . and talk seriously about living in outer space when we haven't yet learned to live on earth without fighting each other."

Soprano Maria Callas Asks Damage Payments

ROME (AP) — Temperamental soprano Maria Callas is trying to collect 2½ million lire—about $3,500—from the Rome Opera Co. because she was not allowed to appear again after walking out on opening night last Jan. 2.

The American star is asking that amount in damages, plus her travel costs and other expenses in a suit she has filed.

MEETINGS POSTPONED

The Spencer and Trimble Classes of the Presbyterian Church will not meet Tuesday as previously announced.

The next meetings will be Jan. 27 at 7:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

Even during summer, water only two degrees above freezing is found among the lava wastes of Idaho's Craters of the Moon National Monument.

WARM FRIENDS — Pert Dixie Qualset takes a wintry walk in Kansas City, Mo., with her dog, who has just the thing every dog needs—earmuffs. The dog's ears are a bit too long for the muffs, but a little warmth is better than none in the cold weather most of the U.S. is experiencing.
